Fierce Contest Between Pitchers Rusie and Young up to that Time.

MORE THAN 6,000 SPECTATORS.

Monster Crowd Expected at the Afternoon Battle, Which Ward Also Hopes to Capture.

POLO GROUNDS, May 80 .- It may have been late hours and the too in-vigorating breeziness of the East that ed to cast an air of ennul about the visitors from the western city of beautiful avenues, but certain is it, that most of the Clevelands this forenoon ould have envied.

The tearing up the back Tebeau's Ter ors got yesterday possibly disturbed heir slumbers last night, and they robably tossed and rolled in the throes f a weird nightmare, and that is why gray-bloused, black-legged leather ers looked browsled and careworn

Umpire-Mr. Lynch.

The woolly Western invaders were invited to face gentle Amos Husie first and then began the first inning. That cleaginous dumpling, "Cherub" Childs, did what brought him vociferous cheers. He fanned the humid atmosphere for three successive times and cut "no iee" at all, as far as the ball went.

The "Tot" got his mawleys on to Mr. Burkett's rasping bounder, and Burkett was a corpse at Doyle's corner. Frightfully slow and strained was Mike Tiernan on McKean's single over Ward's head into short right, and Mac dashed like a mad March hare to the middle hillock before the Albino found agility enough to soak the pellet back to the infield. Ewing tried to work the mossy bluff that he was hit by the ball, but they gave Buck the merry ha ha.

Rusie finally permitted Buck to go to first on four "off" ones.

George Davis was sorely fooled on Tebeau's high-bounding grounder, which undulated slowly to his corner, and it got away from Davis just long enough for Patsey to reach first safely, and the bags were crowded. Still it went no further, for Murphy lassoed O'Connor's grounder to short, and soaked it to Ward at second, shutting off Tebeau and retiring the side. No runs.

"Tottie" Murphy sens one between third and short and got first like a dream. He scampered over to second after Zimmer, in a beautiful running catch, aptured Davis's foul fly back of first.

Doyle made a sacrifice, McKean to Tebeau, which inched Murphy up to third, and there was just a glint of hope he would score. Van Haltren was asked to do the trick. He didn't do anything of the kind for his fly, which the wind carsened over back of first, was a dead rabbit in Patricto Tebeau's digits. No rurs.

Becond Inning-Zimmer has the appearance of an Arapahoe who would careened over back of first, was a dead rabbit in Patricio Tebeau's digits. No rurs.

Second Inning—Zimmer has the appearance of an Arapahoe who would rather eat drop curves and inshoots than cut a fat watermelon. The way he swatted at a beauty of Rusie's was a caution. The pellet rollicked down to short, and this time Davis nabbed it like a sallor, slung it to Doyle so hard that it nearly knocked Jocko off his pins, but Zimmer was no more, and that was as much as you could expect.

McGarr dribbled up a feeble fly, which had just wings enough to carry it back of short, and Murphy made a brilliant backward running catch. Cuppy had lots of time, and he waited until Rusie could cut the plate in two with the ball. Amos couldn't do that feat and Cuppy walked to first. A turf-eating grounder from the ground, doing a veritable serpentine danse du ventre, but Murphy, like a poised hawk, swooped reientlessly upon it, and then he slashed it to J. Montgomery at second, putting Cuppy in a trance at that base. No runs.

"Curve on, John," shrieked Van Haltren, after Ward had waited until Cuppy tossed a bunch of tart ones over the plate. Ward needn't have shouted at all, for it was a gittering gift of the base that Cuppy made. Tiernan sent one up to kiss a passing cloud ta ta, and after it did that Cherub Childs was waiting beneath it like an avenging angel.

Eddle Burke pasted a peach into right field, way behind first, and it was so far out of the baseman's reach that Ward galloped to third, although Burke only got to first. Only one man out, too, and it did take on a roseate tinge up here, to be sure. But only for a minute. Duke Farrell ripped a furrow in the cir with the pellet to feet high, and that Innings and Always Held the Visitors Safe.

EASTERN PARK, BROOKLYN, N. Y May 30.-While the turnstiles were click Do It Again," and his best St. Louis that there were nine innings in a game cent seats was filled by 10 o'clock. The game was called.

First Inning-Dowd took his place, bat in hand, and Umpire Emaile called "Time, batt-rup." Dowd hit the first ball straight into Foutz's hands and sat down. Frank was patient, and Stein agave him four very nice ones. Stein threw to catch him napping. Foutz muffed, but recovered the sphere and tried to hesd him off at second. Emsile called it safe, and the bleachers howled. Shugart hit to Corcoran, who threw him out at first. Dave shot it home in time to double up Frank at the plate. No runs.

Daly went to first by courtesy of Clarkson, but was forced at second by Corcoran's slow grounder to Ely. Tom stole second. Clarkson's wildness continued and Tredway chased himself to the first, Corcoran stealing third and scoring a moment later on Griffin's sacrifice.

Tred taking second. Then Shoch put up a high foul for Peitz, and it was all over.

Second Inning—Shoch attended to Mile.

Burns scored on the play. Dailey obliged with a foul to Peitz, when the crowd demanded great things of him. One run.

Third Inning—Burns located Ely's fly to a dot and squelched it. Emslie called Miller to order for coaching Buckley at the bat, and said something about 'ten doilars.' Then Buckley hit to Shoch and was thrown out. Clarkson fouled to Dailey. No runs.

Corcoran's grass-cutter was stopped by Ely in great shape. Clarkson was very wild, and Tredway got to first on bails, taking second on a wild throw of Clarkson to catch him napping. Griffin stopped an inshoot with his back and ambied to first. Shoch's hit to short was fielded to second, retiring Griffin, Tredway taking third. Emslie called him out on Buckley's throw to Peitz and the bleachers groaned, while Capt. Miller smiled grimly. No runs. Fourth Inning—Corcoran attended to Dowd's liner. Frank's high fly was caught by Griffin. Foulz muffed Corcoran's throw of Shugart's easy one. Miller died hard at first, owing to Corcoran's snap shot. No runs.

Burns looked vicious, but Peitz took care of his little one. Foutz fared better, for Peitz threw high and gave him a life. He went to second on a low throw, but was nipped trying to set third on the error. Dailey went to first on bails, but was forced at second by Stein. No runs.

Fith Inning—Corcoran's fumble cost a base for Peitz. Quinn gave material for a double play, but Emslie wouldn't see how Quinn could be out. Con Dailey threw low, and a blue flash slid to second. Ely jabbed one at Griffin, who warmed it in his glove. Quinn took third on a passed ball.

The bleachers called Buckley's long hit a foul but it was a two-bagger, and second on Quinn's poor throw. He

Daly hit for a bag and sprinted

Daly hit for a bag and sprinted to second on Quinn's poor throw. He tailied on Corcoran's hot liner into a vacant space in centre field, which netted two sacks. Tredway sent a high fly and Shugart nipped it, catching Corcoran on third, with a daisy throw. Quinn was in the way of Griffin's bounder. One run.

Sixth Inning.—Dowd filed out to Tredway. Daly was too slow with Frank's low hit. Burns trapped the screamer that Shugart put up, and held Frank at first with a quick throw in. Miller fungoed to Burns. No runs.

Shoch wouldn't hit at out-curves, and walked to first. Burns was treated likewise, and David sacrificed them ahead a bag. Dalley sent a beauty to left. Schoch scoring. Con stole second while the Browns were flushing and thinking about it. Then Stein swiped one to deep centre. Burns sliding fifteen feet to score on the throw in. Daiy looked at Dalley reposing on third, and sent him home with a daisy cutter to left. He was collared at second by Buckley. Three runs.

Seventh Inning.—Mike Griffin caught was collared at second by Buckley. Three runs.

Seventh Inning.—Mike Griffin caught Peitr's fly. Dailey captured Quinn's wonderfuily hard foul fly after a hundred-yard sprint. Daily threw Ely's grounder wildly, Fouts stopping it fifteen feet from the bag. Daily juggled Buckley's little one, and the butter was safe, Ely taking second. Clarkson stabbed the atmosphere thrice. No runs.

Eighth Inning—Dowd hit for three bags close to te pavilion. Frak flew to Griffin, Dowd scoring on the throw in, Miller singled. Plets flew out. One run, Schoch's daisy hit along the left foul-line was labelled "one bag." He slid prettly to second, while Burns answered imploring apeals by striking out. Shugart made a great catch of Foutz's liner with whiskers attached. Dailey fouled to Clarkson. No runs.

Ninth Inning—Quinn singled to right. Ely forced him at second, just escaping a double play. Daily captured Buckley's pop-up, and Coircoran handler Clarkson's hit, retiring the side. No runs.

Five of the Italians were taken out and were found to be badly injured. One will probably dle. The Italians were known by numbers. They were taken to Mount Vernon Hospital.

The place of the accident is near the railroad station, were work has been going on for two years in sinking the tracks of the railroad. The cut is about twenty-five feet deep.

The accident occurred at 5 o'clock this morning just before the night shift went off duty. The injured men upon arriving at the hospital were attended by Drs. Berkine, Kimbali and Myers.

It was found necessary to amputate the legs of two of the Italians. Another was found to have had his skull fractured. The three will die.

The accident was caused by the giving way of the supports which braced up the embankment.

official report of the wreck made to the railroad office places the number of dead at eight and the injured at fifteen.

Several of the latter will die.

At the office of General Manager Whitcomb it was stated that the Wisconsin Central accident happened at 1.15 A. M., and that the wrecked train was the south-bound limited from Minneapolis to Chicago. It was a fairly heavy train, and was running at the usual rate of speed when it struck the open switch and went off on a straight piece of level track. The baggage and mall cars, the smoker and second day coach and two of the three sleepers left the track, and nearly all the cars except one of the two sleepers were either burned or badly wrecked.

None of the passengers in the sleepers was hurt, but twelve or fifteen in the smoking-car and day coach were injured. All the injured were taken to Marshield, where they are receiving every possible attention. The bodies of the trainmen were taken to Steven's Point.

The opinion strongly prevails in offilead at eight and the injured at fifteen.

the trainmen were taken to Steven's Point.
The opinion strongly prevails in official circles of the Central that the wreck was the result of criminal tampering with the switch at Manville.
The town of Manswille, where the accident happened, was almost totally destroyed by fire last Fall, and since that time there has been little there except a railroad station. It was formerly a lumber centre, and a large saw-mill was operated there.
Receiver Howard Morris was in the rear sleeper and telegraphed the first facts to General Manager Whitcomb. White House Flowers for the Dead.
